

AutoCheck® for law enforcement

Prevent fraud and reduce the titling of stolen vehicles

Vehicle fraud and theft affect the economy and consumer safety. Car theft is a profitable business of $8 billion per year<sup>1</sup>. Car thieves often take stolen vehicles across state lines and seek valid titles by presenting fraudulent ownership documentation to the titling agency in another state.

The data law enforcement needs

AutoCheck® provides the data law enforcement needs to uncover vehicles that have been declared a total loss, are potentially stolen or have records of being cloned. This information helps to prevent fraud and reduce the titling of stolen vehicles.

Four important ways to use AutoCheck

1. Uncover total loss vehicles

Identify vehicles that have been declared a total loss by insurance carriers. This titling information is included in the full history section of the AutoCheck report.

2. Reduce title washing

Prevent thieves from taking stolen vehicles across state lines to seek valid titles by allowing state agencies to verify vehicle title information in real time.

3. Streamline investigative work

Included as a service with LexisNexis' eCrash program that provides law enforcement agencies one place to access/disseminate vehicle crash reports.

4. Learn the afterlife of cars

Includes exclusive auction events, such as frame damage, salvage or junk events. We have information on the port of export for cars that leave the United States.
